

Internationalization internship at ROCTAR

Are you a native speaker in German, Dutch or English?

Do you have good writing skills in your native language?

Would you like to help us improve education?

Did you like Science subjects such as Chemistry or Biology?

We are a Startup that develops STEM kits for children to learn Science experimenting at home. To that purpose we are developing an online community in our website that includes videos of the experiments and gamification for a practical and fun learning experience.

You can check our kits and courses on our website:

roctar.com

The kits include:

Online course based on experiments

Diploma and gamification

Materials to make the experiments

The activities of the internship are oriented to develop the sales in your country of origin:

- Market study for your country of origin
- Develop strategies to boost sales in the country. Ideally through agreements with distributors.
- Contact possible distributors.
- Correct translations of the courses and the contents of our website.
- Voice over the videos of the experiments in your native language.

At the end of the internship we will evaluate the results and if the sales allow it, we will offer a permanent position in the company as International Sales Manager.
