

Will you be our next intern?

Simply.TV is challenging traditional tv-watching, changing how content is being enjoyed forever. How? By radically improving the underlying data. Still confused? Imagine this: if TV interfaces were the cake, then we'd be the bakers - we bring the best ingredients, and the perfect baking strategy to create the ultimate treat. We are a young and agile startup on a mission to find the talents of tomorrow to join us on our journey,

So here we go

- Are you passionate about bringing out the best version of each individual.?
- Are you stubbornly ambitious to make an impact?
- Are you structured in your work? A real team-player?
- Are you a naturally curious individual who loves to speak up?

If yes, then you might just be who we've been searching for!

About us

Simply.TV is an entertainment metadata provider built on best-in-market technology. A market that is big enough to employ 5000 people worldwide, but that no one really think exists. What we do? We collect TV data (listings/schedules) from thousands of TV channels and streaming services. Then we normalise, enhance and deliver the data to e.g. TV operators, broadcasters, smart TV manufactures, measurement companies, and rights holders. What makes our startup different? Our technology and mindset.
